

KPITK Announce its Annual Preventing Destructive Decisions

This Presentation is for Kings Park Parents and Teens

October 10, 2012, 6:30 p.m.

Kings Park High School

Renowned Neuroscientist and Times Herald Man of the Year in Education, Dr. Stephen Dewey, will serve as the event's keynote speaker. During his presentation Dr. Dewey will:

- Explain how alcohol and drug use affects the developing adolescent brain and the adult brain.
- Discuss a range of drugs, beginning with the most addictive from caffeine to heroin.
- Make the information come alive to parents and students through the use of PET slides.
- Empower parents with the knowledge and confidence to guide their children through the adolescent years.

"Few of us would think of missing one of our kids sporting events or a musical concert but so few take the time to get educated about one of the most critical aspects of their child's life, if you come out one night this year for your kids, make it this night," says KPITK President Maureen Rossi

Following Dr. Dewey's presentation we will hear from Steve Chassman, Clinical Director of LICADD, Long Island Council on Alcohol and Drug Dependency. He will discuss the OASAS survey whose results were released last August.

"This data is very telling, the children have spoken and there is some great information in that survey, as a community it is imperative we pay attention to what our adolescents are saying about their families, about their community and about drugs and alcohol use," says KPITK V.P. and Chairperson of the event Kim Revere.

"Dr. Dewey's presentation is riveting and the data on the Youth Survey is very telling, I promise this evening will be a game changer for you and your teen – this presentation is not to be missed," said Rossi.
